A message from your President ←→

It seems that there is no rest to be had in the archery world. I thought that after State and Nationals, there might be a little down time. Boy was I wrong! There were a few hardened archers that put on their hunting gear and drove to Yankton to shoot the last leg of the Three Star Tournament series.

Last year it was 40 mph winds. This year it was 40 degree temps. Who says target archers aren't tough? Turkey season hasn't been much of a picnic either. We are still waiting to hear from all of you successful turkey hunters. We would like to publish a picture of you and your gobbler in the Release and post it on the website. It's no secret that I am out of the loop with the 3D circuit. I have been trying for years, to get you guys to send in some results and stories from these big 3D's that you are attending. I do know for a fact that Missouri has quite a few accomplished 3der's. Don't be bashful, send some stories into the Release for the rest of the state to enjoy.

Good luck to everyone competing in the State 3D this month. It will be a busy summer with 3D's and all the field shoots scheduled. The NFAA Midwest Sectionals will be held at Blue Springs this year. If you have never spent the weekend shooting Field archery, this is your chance. It will get you ready for the MBH State Outdoor Championship held on the same range in Aug. IBH will host both of these event, and they always do a great job.

The Clubs that will be hosting the NFAA/MBH State Indoor Championships, will be announced in the June Release. We will also have a new Scholarship recipient to announce very soon. Stay posted.

Once again we would like to thank one and all who came and shot with us at our 300 shoots this year, and had some good scores shot. If it weren't for you all we would just about have to pack it up.

If I missed anyone's name, I am sorry. I will try to have some 3-D scores posted in the next writing.

Like I said, if you think of anything we can do better, let us know. You all are ones that we want to please.

If you didn't see your name above and want to find out where you placed, and you have a computer just log on to: www.stlbowhunters.com. To see all of the shoot listings and results.

Your MBH expiration date is included on your mailing label! For example, if the expiration is listed as 2011.07, that means you need to mail your dues to the MBH Secretary by the end of July, 2011. Payments for membership renewals should be sent to MBH, P.O. Box 108, Huntsville, MO 65259.

NODAHO BOWHUNTERS, INC.

Jeanette Brookshier, Secretary

Although it is hard to tell by the temperatures outside lately, 3-D season is upon us, as well as turkey season – surely the warmer weather and sunshine can't be too far behind. I haven't heard yet of anyone from Nodaho being successful in their quest for getting a turkey with the "stick and string", but there have been a few close encounters. 12-year-old Dakota Leeper "ruffled some feathers", but the gobbler made a hasty exit before he could nock another arrow. Can't say as I blame him.

We were blessed with wonderful weather (even though quite windy) on our April 10 3-D shoot, and we were thankful for a great crowd of 153 archers. Thanks to all that came. Here are the winners, full results can be found on our web site www.nodahobowhunters.com.

The Missouri Conservation Commission protects and manages the fish, forest, and wildlife resources of the state; serves the public and facilitates their participation in resource management activities; and provides opportunities for all citizens to use, enjoy, and learn about fish, forest, and wildlife resources. In recent days, the Conservation Commission's constitutional authority to manage the fish, forest and wildlife resources of the state of Missouri has been questioned. Specifically, SB300 would allow the General Assembly to establish wildlife management methods of take (i.e. use of handguns during the muzzleloader portion of the firearm deer season).

The citizens of Missouri created a unique system of conservation with constitutional authority to control, manage, restore, conserve and regulate the bird, fish, game, forestry and all wildlife resources of the state. The Missouri Conservation Commission has exclusive control over the management of wildlife resources, including the seasons, methods and limits for hunting, fishing and trapping. Missouri courts have clearly decided the Conservation Commission's authority and that any legislative enactments inconsistent with these regulations are void of no effect.

Here is the other side of the debate...

Missouri: Vote on NRA-Backed Hunting Legislation
Postponed! Wednesday, April 27, 2011

Yesterday's vote on Senate Bill 300 was held off in the House General Laws Committee, but could be reconsidered as early as this Thursday, April 28.

Senate Bill 300, sponsored by state Senator Brian Munzlinger (R-18), would allow hunters to use centerfire handguns during the state's muzzleloader hunting seasons. This is one important way to provide hunters with increased choice and opportunity in the field. Handguns have a more limited range than modern muzzleloaders and therefore fall within the scope and spirit of this lesser weapons season.

Anti-hunting forces continue their fight to destroy hunting through over-regulation and obstacles to limit participation. It is crucial that you contact members of the House General Laws Committee listed below immediately and urge them to SUPPORT SB 300.

I am an NRA member and will continue to support the NRA, in most cases. However, in this case I believe Hunting Rules and Regulations should be set by the Missouri Department of Conservation and its Commission. Please contact your legislators and let them know what you think.

Field Archery

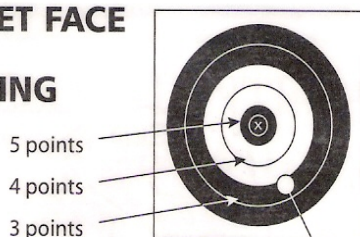

By: Bill Myers

While attending the Missouri Bow Hunters (MBH) 2010 Outdoor Field Championships, the subject of why more shooters did not participate came up. One suggestion was MBH may have several members (i.e. 3-D shooters or bow hunters) who do not know what is involved in field archery. The indoor season came to a close this year with the MBH Indoor Championships held in Linn, Mo. Many of you have already gone out and shot a 3-D course or planning to do so in the near future. Why not try your hand at field archery?

When I first started shooting archery and you joined a local club you were introduced to indoor, field, 2-D (paper animal targets) and bow hunting. This is not necessarily the case today. Most clubs today focus on 3-D archery and bow hunting. So, what is a field round? A field round is not standing out in an open field and shooting at some faraway target. A field round is a challenging course placed in the woods (much like 3-D) with varying terrain, and different distances from target to target. Field rounds are all about shooting proficiently, not yardage estimation. Field rounds can improve a 3-D shooter's proficiency.

TARGET FACE

SCORING

An arrow shaft need only touch the line to be counted in the area of the next higher value.

Field courses and 3-D courses have a few basic differences, most notable is field courses have marked yardages. A basic NFAA field round is made up of 28 targets. Targets are black and white faces with a possible 20 points per target and a perfect round of 560. The round is usually made up of two 14 target units. You can have 28 targets one after the other or you can have 14 target course and shoot it twice to make it a full round. Each 14 target unit has the same target distances but not necessarily in the same order. You shoot four (4) arrows at each target for a total of 112 arrows per field round. On a field round you have three basic targets. (1) some shooting positions all four arrows are shot from the same marker; (2) some positions have four markers at different yardages where you shoot one arrow from each as you walk closer to the target (walk-up) and (3) some positions have four markers at the same yardage (side by side) where you shoot one arrow from each (fan). A NFAA field round the closest target is 20 feet and the farthest target is 80 yards. There are four different size target faces, the further the target the bigger the bulls-eye. Now I know what you are saying "80 yards, I don't shoot deer at that distance".

Well, neither do I, but it will teach you aim at a spot and make a better archer out of you. Younger archers get a break, if they are under 15, their longest shot is 50 yards; if they are under 12, 30 yards is the longest. Adults and young adults (15 thru 17) shoot at the distances indicated on White Markers; youth (12 thru 14) shoot the white markers up to 50 yards. Any target over 50 yards, youth will shoot Blue Markers. Cubs (under 12) shoot four arrows from the Black Markers.

TARGET FACE

SCORING

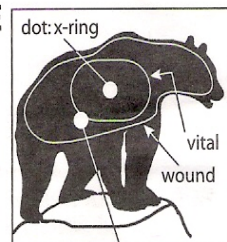

An arrow shaft need only touch the line to be counted in the area of the next higher value.

Other rounds are offered such as the hunter round. The hunter round is like the field round except that you shoot an all black face with a white dot. The distances for a hunter round range from 11 yards to 70 yards. Again, 2 fourteen target units make a round. In a hunter round you have the same type of target (i.e. stationary, walk-up and fan) and once again the further the distance the larger the bulls-eye. Adults and young adults shoot from the red markers; youth shoot the Red Markers up to 50 yards. Any target over 50 yards, youth will shoot the Blue Marker. Cubs shoot 4 arrows from the Black Markers.

TARGET FACE SCORING

1st	21 points x-ring
	20 points vital
	18 points wound
2nd	17 points x-ring
	16 points vital
	14 points wound
3rd	13 points x-ring
	12 points vital
	10 points wound

An arrow shaft need only touch the line to be counted in the area of the next higher value.

The animal round is a 2-D round (animals printed on a sheet of paper that is usually pasted to cardboard). Distances are marked to give everyone an equal chance. Scoring for this round is different. You take three arrows and mark them 1, 2, and 3. When you get to the shooting marker (farthest yellow) you shoot one arrow, if you hit the scoring area you need not shoot another arrow. If you miss (or not sure of your hit) move up to the next yellow marker and shoot arrow #2. Once again if you hit the scoring area you need not shoot another arrow. If you miss the scoring area on arrow #1 and #2, move up to the next yellow marker and shoot arrow #3. The scoring area is divided into two parts. The vital area and wound area with a dot in the vital area as a bonus. Scoring is based on where you hit with each arrow. First arrow vital is 20 points (dot is 21); first arrow would be 18 points. Second arrow vital is 16 points (dot is 17); second arrow would be 14 points. Third arrow vital is 12 points (dot is 13); third arrow would be 10 points. Adults and young adults shoot the Yellow Markers with indicated distances. Youth shoot Yellow Markers up to 50 yards; any distance over 50 yards youth shoot Blue Markers. Cubs shoot the Black Markers.

Scoring field rounds are identical throughout the US. So no matter where you live you can compare your score, proficiency against anyone shooting in your division and style. You always shoot against your competition whether you prefer release, fingers, or bowhunting equipment.

Want to improve your 3-D scores, try shooting some field rounds.

Northside Archers

St. Louis, MO

by Bob Brumbeck

Well by the time you read this it will be well into spring and almost summer. Several 3-D shoots will have already been shot by now. The State Indoor was fantastic again this year. Thanks to one and all who worked so hard to put it on. I heard a lot of comments about the shoot. It was a great place to shoot. At least there was no trouble finding a parking place.

Thanks also to one and all that ran the line, and sat up and tore down after the shoot.

I did get to make the Indoor National at Louisville, Kentucky again this year, and had a wonderful time. There were some fantastic scores shot this year again. Boy, was that an experience. There were thirteen hundred shooters there. There were target butts on both sides of the Convention Center with the vendors in between. It was very impressive to this old boy. Our Tuesday night Indoor league is over, here is the results of the indoor league and the outcome of the shoot off night:

1st Half :

1st place, Carl Ball and Brian Dufaux

2nd place, Debbie Dufaux and Rich Noble

3rd place, Bill Myers and Al Smith

2nd Half:

1st place, Steve Lucas and Lonnie Nicholas

2nd place, Carl Ball and Brian Dufaux

3rd place, Ed Griffin and Ralph Martin

Grand Champions:

Carl Ball and Brian Dufaux (tie)

Steve Lucas and Lonnie Nicholas (tie)

This is the first time that we have had a tie for Grand Champion. They did not have a shoot off, they just split the prize money. Congratulations to all of them for some fine shooting this year and last. Enough about that, let's get to the great outdoors. I always enjoy the State Outdoor shoots whether I shoot good or not. I hope to see a lot of you all there this summer. It seems that if you have a problem one particular target, on the next round maybe you can get your evens on it.

Our outdoor range is coming along great because the target butts were in pretty fair shape. We do hope to have it ready for the first outdoor league night. It is always the first Tuesday night in May. I hope everyone else is having good luck at getting their ranges ready. Our only deer harvest turned in to me was Rich Noble who took an eight point buck, and I took a Doe.

There is not too much else happening here right now. Just thinking about the upcoming spring turkey season that is just around the corner. Hope you all have a safe and successful turkey season. Until the next time, may all your arrows find the Gold.

from Cole Duensing....

My brothers and sisters of the bow, it has surely been an amazing month of March. The Deer Classic just keeps on getting better! It's absolutely incredible. Thanks to all who worked to make the event as spectacular as it is. The MBH State Indoor Championship was amazing as well. Just shy of 250 archers attended! What a fantastic showing for MBH. Thanks to all who put the tournament together! Also, thank you to all the shooters, especially to the shooters I had the privilege to shoot with. All of you made the experience what it should be, FUN!

I was blessed with the Paul Jeffries Scholarship Award while at the State Indoor Championship. To receive this award is a blessing and an honor. I would like to thank everyone on the scholarship board, especially Mr. Dick Wood for his hospitality and his dedication to MBH. Also, I would like to thank the Jeffries Family. To all the members of the Jeffries Family, I deeply thank you for the opportunity you have presented me with this scholarship. I will always remember the generosity and kindness of the Jeffries Family. I am humbly honored to receive the scholarship that is in honor of the late Paul Jeffries. He has done more for the sport of archery than most others ever will and I will continue my education with the incredible things he has done for the sport in my mind. After hearing his story at the tournament, I am inspired by his life and will strive to continue to grow and spread the sport of archery like he did. Also, I would like to thank Steve Christian. He is an incredible president and I want to thank him for allowing me the opportunity for the scholarship. Thanks to Kathy Potter and all the others working within the Missouri Bow Hunters and making it the best bow hunting association I could ever imagine. The MBH members, you are what makes this association great. Proceeds from your money spent on the bow and quilt raffles went to the scholarship fund. Therefore, I thank you for your awesome generosity. A special thanks to my family and dad, Craig, who always stand behind me in all that I do and allowed me to be all I can be. Most importantly, I would like to thank God for all the blessings He has graced me with. It's like what the "Good Book" says, "I can do all thing through Him who strengthens me."

NFAA Director- Missouri

Potter.mbh@cvalley.net

Hello All! As the NFAA Director for Missouri, I'll do my best to keep members current on activities related to NFAA throughout the year. However, the first order of business is to make an introduction! Although some of you are already NFAA members, many MBH members have not yet taken advantage of the benefits offered by taking their membership to the 'national' level.

The National Field Archery Association (NFAA) is a non-profit corporation dedicated to the sport of archery.

The NFAA was founded in 1939, and now consists of 50 chartered state associations and more than 1,100 affiliated clubs. The NFAA is a member of the International Field Archery Association (IFAA). Additionally, NFAA is a national allied organization of the National Archery Association (NAA). As such, NFAA members may compete at NAA national and regional events and NAA members may compete at NFAA national and sectional events.

The NFAA hosts 4 National Championship tournaments:

- Indoor- Louisville, KY (Mar 2011)
- Unmarked 3D- Yankton, SD (April 2011)
- Marked 3D- Redding, CA (May, 2011)
- Outdoor Field- Yankton, CA (July 25-27, 2011)

These combined events draw nearly 3,000 Archers each year. The organization also hosts 8 Sectional Indoor and Outdoor (Field) Sectional Championships for Archers across the nation. In addition, the NFAA sanctions more than 100 Championship tournaments at the State level (see the Calendar of Events for 2011 NFAA sanctioned tournaments in Missouri).

Don't think I've ever shot a competition wearing that much gear ... brrrr! Yep, that's me, 3rd over from the left. The snow melted by the 2nd day, but it was still frigid! (NFAA Unmarked 3D - April 2011, Yankton, SD)

Jackie White and others try to stay warm while waiting for the NFAA 3-Star Tour Shoot-off to begin at NFAA Headquarters in Yankton, SD (April 2011)

Becoming an NFAA member has a number of benefits in addition to the competitive shooting opportunities:

- The NFAA operates a liability insurance program for affiliated clubs and state associations
- The NFAA automatically provides members who bow hunt with limited property-damage liability insurance
- Members also receive (at no cost) the ARCHERY magazine, published by the NFAA 6 times per year
- The NFAA Certified Instructor Program as well as shooting and equipment clinics and shooters schools are accessible in all 50 states
- If that's not enough... numerous awards for skills, service and membership may be earned by meeting benchmarks.

The annual cost for single membership is $35. You can add up to 2 household family members for an additional $5 each and $2 each for any other household members that want to join. You can easily download the form or join online at www.nfaa-archery.org. Please note that NFAA automatically adds on your MBH dues at the time you join. You can avoid duplicate payment of your state fees, by sending your NFAA payment to the MBH Office. Your membership request will be processed and forwarded to NFAA Headquarters.

If you have questions regarding the NFAA or just want to learn more, please don't hesitate to contact me! ☺
