President's Message

It's here.... September has arrived and we all know what that means ... I know a lot of you are chomping at the bit to get in a tree, and have practiced until you can't miss. Much luck to everyone and remember to get your game reports into Jeff Blystone.

We had our August meeting a couple of weeks ago in Columbia. Make sure and check the minutes. There just might be a thing or two in there that might interest you.

New officer elections are coming up this year. If you're interested in holding an office please email your info to mbhsecretary@gmail.com.

Good luck to you all !

We will see you soon!

Jim

MBH Election of Officers

Ballots will be mailed in mid November and due back to the Secretary by mid December. The ballots will have to have a return address on them so the secretary can make sure the voters membership is valid. So if you are a member who's membership expires in November or December please make sure to renew your membership on time. The ballots from expired memberships at the end of December will be voided. The ballots will be kept sealed until the January meeting which at that time the secretary will have 2 board members open the ballots and count them.

Please contact the secretary at www.mbhsecretary@gmail.com if you have moved so she can update your address. If you have any questions, please contact her or the President @ mbhpresident@gmail.com.

Officer Nominees

President

Bill Myers

Hello MBH members, my name is Bill Myers and I am running for President. I have been a member of MBH since 1980 and involved with the Board of Representatives for almost as long. I have represented several clubs to include Tri-county Bowhunters, Summit Archery, Buder Park Archery Club and the St. Louis Archery Council. I have also served on the committees of, Hall of Fame, Revisions and as Parliamentarian. I am currently holding the office of Vice-President for the second time.

Officer Nominees

Vice President

Matthew Dunn

Hello! My name is Matthew Dunn. I am from the small town of Salem, MO, where I grew up with my parents Max and Judy Dunn. Growing up we were your typical outdoor people, hunting in the fall and fishing in the summer. In early 2010 my daughter, Jaden, was shooting in the NASP program at school. I learned about MBH when she decided to go further with her archery. One year later my son, Jansen, started shooting. It has been 8 years since then and every year at the state indoor I have been a volunteer with set up and/or tear down, line judge, and a guardian angel for the Cubs. We have carried out our archery journey with indoor, outdoor, 3D and NASP ever since, along with bowhunting between shoots and work.

One of my goals while in office is to encourage youth involvement in MBH. To help pursue this goal I became a certified NASP instructor in 2011. This is very important to me because if it wasn't for my kids being involved in archery I would not have been introduced to the wonderful organization of MBH.

BofR Meeting Minutes

- vii.
- C. By-law changes for 2018:– 11. Passed; 9.-Passed; 13-15 – Passed; C & D: Passed after change to President. See new by-laws with the current changes.
- D. NFAA Director Update – Kurt Surber – no show. Kurt is now the NFAA Midwest Councilman so a new MO NFAA Director needs to be appointed by the President and approved by the board. Anyone interested in applying for this position should send a write-up (resume type) about themselves to Tobi for the Release. For the October Release Tobi needs the write-up by September 20th. Voting will be in January by the new President.
- E. Meeting date is January 27, 2019 at the same place and time.
- F. Additional business – See discussion notes below.
- G. Adjourned

Discussion: About MBH sponsoring a CLC student through our MBH membership for students who are interested using this program. We may have a few MBH kid members who are interested in conservation as a career so maybe we should help sponsor them thru CLC program. Jeff Blystone is going to ask about getting more information about this program.

Discussion: How do we draw outside clubs to MBH? How do we get members to come to the tournaments? Do we drop the NFAA requirement for indoor state?

MBH – what does it provide to me – gives us a place to shoot; member helps give us a pull with hunting rights; helps the local club grow.

Again looking at a marketing person. Kathy McLean volunteered to contact a marketing group in her area and see how much it cost to create an updated website or market our organization. Everyone was fine with that.

LARGE & SMALL GAME COMMITTEE

MISSOURI POPE & YOUNG BUCKS!

I was killin sometime during a rainy day recently and decided to look over the 4th edition of the Pope & Young Bowhunting Records of North American Whitetail Deer (volume 4). This record book covers all entries up to December 31, 2014. I was specifically looking at my home state of Missouri and I did get kinda interested in the entries by county. There are 2,431 entries from Missouri, 2,235 are typical, 196 are non-typical, and 3 are velvet entries. The three velvet entries were from Adair County in 2007, St. Louis County in 2008, and Gasconade County in 2012. Missouri had 4 Counties with more than 60 entries.

Jackson County had 74 entries, top scoring typical was an 11 pointer coming in at 173&5/8. Top non-typical was a 24 pointer totaling 199&6/8.

St. Louis County had 73 entries, top typical was a 10 pointer scoring 188. Top non-typical was a 21 point scoring 191&1/8.

Boone County came in 3rd with 72 entries, top typical 167&5/8 eleven point buck, non-typical top spot was a 183&1/8 eighteen pointer.

Putman County has 65 entries, best typical buck scored 163&5/8 with 10 points, and best non-typical was a 196&6/8 with 15 points.

Of the four top counties 3 of them contain 3 of Missouri's largest cities. Three of them are also bordering the Missouri River. #1 Jackson County is home for Kansas City and the northern border is the big MO. #2 St Louis County is home to St. Louis and again the northern border is the Missouri River. #3 Boone County IS bordered on the south by the river and is home for Columbia.

My opinion about big city bucks is two fold. First of all, age class in the big city area is older because of less hunting pressure. Lots of private land and city limits allow bucks to grow old without being shot at thus getting a chance to get big, all they have to do is dodge all the traffic! Secondly if they are hunted and harvested it will most likely be with archery equipment. Cities and county parks are increasingly allowing archery hunting to manage overpopulation. All though you will probably have to kill a doe or two before you can hunt the buck legally. The city and park hunt managers have learned that bowhunters don't mind shooting does but we hunt harder and longer if there's a chance at a big buck so they allow bucks to be earned by killing a doe first. That manages the herd and gives bowhunters that incentive to stay on stand.

I also think the Missouri river plays a part in growing big bucks. River bottoms have very fertile soil that grows great crops, at least when it doesn't flood. Flooding plays another role. Few people or livestock live in the Missouri River flood plains allowing deer to live undisturbed. Cover along the river is also good, if you have ever tried to put up a treestand in August along the river you know about how thick and mosquito infested it can be. In fact five out of the top six Missouri Pope & Young record book counties for entries border the Missouri River. You can expand on that a little if you take into account the Mississippi River as well. Then its 7 out of the top 11 counties border either the Missouri or the Mississippi Rivers. There is also quite a bit of public land available to hunt along the rivers. Between the Corps of Engineers and the Missouri Department of Conservation buying land from willing flood victims over the past several years there are thousands of acres open to hunting along the river flood plains. Often this land will require you to do some hiking to get from the parking area to the river but that also cuts down on the hunting pressure. So if you're willing to work for it you may just get a chance at the buck of a lifetime along the Mighty MO!

Happy Bow Hunt'in,
Jeff Blystone
