From the President

It is hard to believe October and Fall is here, time for sweatshirts, hot coco, and homemade chili. The changing colors of the leaves and cooler temperatures. My favorite time of the year. Also, indoor season begins. Fall leagues will be starting up or have started by the time this is published. I am a believer and advocate; an archer should practice the year around. Like any sport, to excel, one must put in the time.

The youth and 450 tournaments will be held in various location as we have done in the past. The only difference (because of Covid) there will be no set line times. You will need to check with the venue you chose to shoot at as to the day and line times available. The Youth shoot is scheduled for November 7th (Springfield will be hosting on more than one day, once again Covid restrictions) and the State 450 on December 12th.

MBH is still looking for nominations for President an Vice-President. If you know of someone you would like to nominate or someone who would like to run for President and Vice-President let the secretary know. If there are no nominations by the time ballots are to be sent out, in an effort to save postage, no ballots will be mailed and a motion will be made at the January meeting to keep the current officers in office.

CONSERVATION COMMITTEE REPORT

With election day coming soon I would like all to consider the environment when you pick your candidates and cast your vote. I'm not saying that should be your only consideration because jobs, the economy, healthcare, and foreign policy are also top priorities but without clean air, water, and the prudent management of our natural resources those other important aspects of our lives are basically meaningless.

I think most of us take clean air and water for granted because for the most part the air we breathe and the water we drink here in the U.S. is all tolerable and hasn't caused any of us to become sick. However there is a limit to how much our environment can take and still clean itself up. As the population of the world continues to grow our water and air will degrade unless we take action to reduce emissions, recycle, and try to slow the rate of global warming. Most of this stuff won't have much of an effect on you and I but our grandchildren will suffer because we choose to ignore the warnings mother nature is sending us. Remember we only have one Mother Earth.

LARGE & SMALL GAME COMMITTEE

Remember last month when I said I wouldn't hunt opening day because I thought it was too hot and buggy?

We'll I did end up hunting opening evening and yes it was about 80 degrees and the mosquitoes were terrible. My son talked me into going out with him to watch a water hole and scout some public land along the Missouri River. We got there about 4 pm and had to walk about a mile to the water hole which was really just a low spot next to the levy. The levy hadn't been mowed yet so the weeds and grass were about chest high which made for good cover but again buggy. The Thermocell is a lifesaver and it looked kinda promising with lots of tracks around the water. We set up on some low folding chairs with a good view of the crop fields about a mile each way and ranged shots across the water hole. Longest shot would be about 40 yards.

We had been there about an hour and hadn't seen anything but some Killdeer and some Redheaded Sliders when we heard some machinery moving our way. Now mind you this was about 5:30pm and we looked at each other thinking surely they didn't pick today to mow the Levy!

Sure enough two big ol tractors pulling brush hogs were headed out way. We quickly gathered up our gear and got down off the side of that levy, where we then watched the mowers annihilate our previous sitting spot. Sometimes it's just not meant to be. We spent the rest of the evening walking the edges of the corn fields and we did see a few does with fawns while we sweated and swatted at the mosquitoes. Another opening day has come and gone for me, I hope yours was better than mine.

Happy Bow Hunt'in,
Jeff Blystone
